

NOTICE

Keep safe while practicing your outdoor social distancing!

During this time of the COVID-19 pandemic, we ask all wilderness users to enjoy the wilderness in a safer and more conservative manner than normal.

We're all human, and we all make mistakes, so it's important during these uncertain times to ensure that a simple mistake doesn't result in an injury requiring rescue.

We're not asking you to avoid the wilderness, but rather we're asking you do everything in your power to not require Search and Rescue resources. This will require a conscious effort on your part.

Skill, expertise, and equipment are great to have, but they don't make you immune to accidents.

Be smart. Be safe.

Conserve our emergency resources.